On October 6, 2018 Ridge View Academy celebrated the opening of the Ridge View Academy Library to student athletes on Saturdays. Because Ridge View values literacy, the focus has been on providing the students with more library time. In the library, students are able to sign up for a book club, find a book they would like to read, play board games and get help with their homework. Mentors and tutors from the community interact with the youth during the library time and during the week, focusing on life skills and educational accomplishment. Community involvement helps provide students with more tools they can access in their journey to successful learning.

Ridge View Academy's partnership with the 21st Century Community Learning Centers Program and Friends for Youth is working together to provide youth with experiences that will stretch their minds as they plan for their future.
